Working Together – Achievement For All

18th December 2019

Dear Parent,

We have been busy reviewing our approach to behaviour for learning in both Alston Primary School and Samuel King's School. We are keen to place reward, praise and positive behaviour at the heart of everything we do in school. Please find attached the new behaviour strategy which will be implemented in January. It sets out clear expectations for our staff and pupils to ensure a consistent approach to behaviour across both schools. We are keen for parents to support this for it to be as effective as possible. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me to discuss. This new approach will be shared with all children and students in the new year so they are also aware of our expectations of them, the rewards they can achieve and the consequences of any behaviour which falls short of our expectations.

Being ready to learn is a key responsibility for our children and students to develop. This includes ensuring they have all of the equipment they need for their day and that they are in full school uniform and it is worn correctly. Families will receive a letter at the beginning of January if there is an ongoing issue with uniform so they are aware and can support their child in being fully equipped and prepared for school life. If pupils receive three of these letters, parents will be invited into school to discuss any issues or concerns there may be. Please support your child with this.

Yours sincerely,

Sally Timmons
Deputy Headteacher
